

On Sept. 12 Camp Parks hosted the quarterly U.S. Army Reserve Command Senior Commanders and Garrison Commanders Conference which included Commanders of all Regional Support Commands, Reserve Garrison Commands Mission & Installation Contracting Command and representatives from Installation Management Command.

“I want to thank the Soldiers and staff and all those responsible for conducting a great conference”, said Lt. Col David James, Garrison Commander of Camp Parks. The event gave everyone involved with positive and lasting impression of Camp Parks.

Commanders and Representative came as far as Puerto Rico, Massachusetts and Hawaii with a sphere of influence that covers all the United States and territories as far as Guam and Samoa. In all there were more than 35 Senior Officers, DA Civilians, and NCO’s who attended the event.

The event marks the first time in almost seven years since the conference has been held at Parks. In that time Camp Parks deactivated its firing ranges, gained new privatized family housing, built two new reserve centers and the Non-Commissioned Officers Academy re-established Parks as its new home.
